CIS had revenue in the 2017 third quarter of €64.4 million, up 3.7%, at constant currency (-3.3% on a reported basis). Marginally positive currency effects in the first half were reversed in the third quarter by the euro's rise in relation to the Algerian dinar, the Mongolian togrog and the Congolese franc.

This growth was driven largely by Mongolia, Mauritania, Saudi Arabia, the DR of Congo and Russia.

For the year's first nine months, revenue at constant currency rose 5% from one year earlier to €192.7 million. On a reported basis, nine month revenue amounted to €189.4 million (+3.2%).

2017 outlook

Growth at constant currency is expected in the fourth quarter despite an unfavourable comparison base and the prospects of increasing currency effects.

Over the longer term, the Group's confidence in the future is bolstered by the business momentum and strong growth prospects in our markets.
